- Completed Claimant Statement LC-2 and tax residency certification.
- Proof of beneficiary identity and address, including government-issued ID and banking details for EFT.
- Signed medical, pharmacy, employment, and disaster agency authorization forms for contestability review.

- Obituary, funeral invoice, or body recovery confirmation if death certificate is delayed.

Reported Loss Narrative

The insured reportedly died when a landslide occurred during evacuation after severe flooding. The claim was filed 12 days after death. The death certificate is not final and the coroner's interim letter states "presumed accidental trauma associated with disaster incident," which may be sufficient for base benefit review but may not satisfy the accidental-death rider.

The policy was issued March 1, 2025, less than two years before the death. The insurer has opened a contestability review focused on application questions about prior cardiovascular treatment and hazardous activities. No denial has been issued.

The spouse is listed as the sole primary beneficiary, but an unsigned email from the insured dated September 15, 2026 mentioned "updating the kids to share the insurance." No formal beneficiary-change form appears in the policy record.

Exclusions, Conditions, and Tricky Clauses

- Suicide exclusion applies during the first two policy years, but the current file does not indicate suicide. The clause is included because the policy is within the exclusion period.
- Accidental-death rider excludes death contributed to by disease, intoxication, intentional self-exposure to known danger, commission of a felony, or failure to follow evacuation orders.
- Misstatement of age, sex at issue, tobacco status, or material health history may affect benefit amount or coverage during contestability review.
- Informal beneficiary-change requests, emails, text messages, and estate documents do not automatically replace the beneficiary designation on file.
- If the beneficiary did not survive the insured by the required period, benefits may pass to contingent beneficiaries or the estate.

Confusing Legal / Insurance Language Excerpts

If the insured dies while this policy is in force, and subject to the terms of the policy and any applicable rider, we will pay the death benefit to the beneficiary of record upon receipt of due proof of death. Due proof may include such documents, statements, authorizations, public records, medical records, and investigative materials as we reasonably require to determine liability and the proper payee.

The Accidental Death Benefit Rider is payable only where death results directly, independently, and exclusively from accidental bodily injury and occurs within 180 days of such injury. The benefit is not payable where death is caused or contributed to, directly or indirectly, by illness, medical treatment, voluntary exposure to known hazard, intoxication, or violation of civil authority order.

During the contestability period, we may investigate statements made in the application and may deny or adjust benefits where material misrepresentation is established. The opening of a contestability review is not a denial and does not waive any defense, limitation, exclusion, or requirement of proof.
